This sheet may help you to determine your leadership style.

9 Leadership Styles

1. Quality: This type of leader focuses on improvement, getting things right, making things as perfect as they can be, being ethical, following the rules and applying high standards.
2. Pleasing people: This type of leader focuses on being liked, creating relationships, strategically supporting others to make themselves indispensable and empowering others.
3. Work tasks and goals: This type of leader wants to be efficient and productive and have the image of someone who is a successful achiever.
4. Emotions: This leader is focused on his/her internal experience and on expressing themselves so that people will understand and see them as being unique and special.
5. Data and work-related information: This leader is more comfortable operating on the intellectual level (as opposed to the emotional level), and is objective, analytical, private, and likes to work independently.
6. Potential problems: This leader focuses on noticing what might go wrong, forecasting problems before they happen so they can prepare for them ahead of time. This type of leader is an insightful problem solver who watches out for threats, is a good troubleshooter and specializes in assessing risks.
7. Innovation: This leader focuses on coming up with new ideas and planning for the future. This leadership style is optimistic, enthusiastic, and automatically reframes negatives into positives.
8. Creating harmony: This type of leader leads by consensus. He/She is a natural mediator, and wants to make sure everyone is heard and that different points of view are considered when making plans and coming to decisions.
9. Power and Control: This leader prefers big-picture thinking to figuring out the details. Likes to make big things happen, and has an easier time dealing with conflict and confrontation than
